DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:
  - I. Claims 1-14 and 28-37, drawn to a system for use with implantable cardiac stimulation devices, classified in class 607, subclass 059.
  - II. Claims 15-22, drawn to a back-up and synchronization system, classified in class 607, subclass 059.
  - III. Claims 23-27, drawn to a method for synchronizing information stored in a plurality of programmers, classified in class 607, subclass 059.
2. The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons: Inventions I and II are related as combination and subcombination. Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and (2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)). In the instant case, the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed because the combination does not require the recited means for selectively transmitting synchronized information to the programmers. The subcombination has separate utility such as for transferring files from a PDA to a laptop computer.
3. It is noted that claim 2 appears to be an evidence claim, as the applicant is not relying upon its features for patentability of claim 1. A rejoinder of Inventions I and II will be considered if Group I is elected and claim 1 is subsequently found to be unpatentable over the art of record.
4. Inventions I and III are related as process and apparatus for its practice. The inventions are distinct if it can be shown that either: (1) the process as claimed can be practiced by another materially different apparatus or by hand, or (2) the apparatus as claimed can be used to practice another and materially different process. (MPEP § 806.05(e)). In this case, the apparatus can be practiced by another method such as one that does not require synchronization based on the type of information and on the programmer group.

5. Inventions II and III are related as process and apparatus for its practice. The inventions are distinct if it can be shown that either: (1) the process as claimed can be practiced by another materially different apparatus or by hand, or (2) the apparatus as claimed can be used to practice another and materially different process. (MPEP § 806.05(e)). In this case, the apparatus can be practiced by another method such as one that does not require synchronization based on the type of information and on the programmer group.

6. Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art because of their recognized divergent subject matter, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

7. Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).
